Helping Children

As families celebrate the holidays this year, thousands of UNICEF staff are working round the clock in more than 190 countries and territories to help children survive and thrive.

© UNICEF/UN068285/ANMAR

© UNICEF/UN044449/AL-ISSA

UNICEF began as an emergency fund after World War II to help children in crisis. Since then it's grown into a vast global network that has helped achieve some remarkable gains—including helping to save the lives of 50 million children under age 5 over the past two decades.

Despite this feat and many more, the sad truth is that this past year was devastating for children. Some 350 million children are living in countries affected by conflict and crisis, many of them missing out on their rights to education, health and protection. 2.6 million babies still die annually before turning one month old.

Now, more than ever, the world's children need your help. Every year 3 million children under five die from undernutrition. Thanks to UNICEF nutrition workers 2-year-old Maria is not one of them. When she began treatment for malnutrition at a UNICEF-supported hospital in South Sudan, she weighed only 13 pounds. But after receiving medical care and Ready-to-Use Therapeutic Food, she recovered and is now healthy and happy.

UNICEF needs your help to make such miracles happen. This holiday season, we think you'll find that shopping at UNICEF Market is an easy and rewarding way to do your part.

A portion of every UNICEF Market purchase helps fund vital supplies like the nutrition that saved little Maria as well as health care, immunizations, clean water, education, emergency relief and more. What's more, every UNICEF Market product is sourced directly from talented artisans in Asia, Latin America and Africa to make sure they receive a fair price for their work so their families are cared for, too.

Shopping for good at UNICEF Market is a meaningful way to make your money go further. Happy hunting and thank you for helping to make this a joyous holiday season for every child!

Unique gifts that make a difference.

A UNICEF Market purchase helps children and provides support for local economies.

In Asia, Latin America and Africa, we work directly with artisans to make unique, handcrafted gifts available to you. Artisans are paid fair-market value for their work. They no longer must abandon their craft and their community to find employment elsewhere. These artisans support not only themselves and their families, but are often able to employ extended family and neighbors in small workshops.

A portion of every UNICEF Market purchase helps fund vital supplies like nutrition, health care, immunization, clean water, education, emergency relief and more.

When you purchase holiday gifts and cards through the UNICEF Market, you help children to be what they are above all else -- simply children.

Thank you for putting children first around the world.

Help UNICEF put children first.

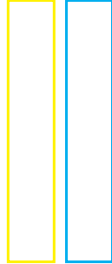

UNICEF works to save and protect the world's most vulnerable children. Every day, UNICEF provides water, nutrition, health care and education to children living in poverty or caught up in conflict or disaster. We help immunize nearly 40 percent of the world's children and use proven, low-cost interventions to save children's lives. 90% of every dollar spent goes directly to help children.
